

How to spread the Enlightenment (with Ludwig Leichhardt)

Lindsay Barrett

Small field telescope

Quadrant

Sextant

Sykes Apparatus (to determine height above sea level)

Standard compass

Prismatic compass

Artificial horizon

Chronometer

Thermometer

Watch ('a large silver hunting watch, rather old-fashioned')

Japanned (enamelled) tin case containing journal and writing materials

Medicine chest with medicines

One double-barrelled rifled carbine, with steel ramrod

One single barrelled muzzle-loading carbine

One silver-mounted double-barrelled pistol engraved LL

One silver-mounted double-barrelled pistol engraved RB

Brass bullet mould

Lead shot (250 lbs)

Brass and copper gunpowder flasks

Two swords

Large tent with iron tent pegs

Pair of scissors

Quart pots: two pannikins per man, with double wire handles

Saucepans

Boiler: a large pot (10 quarts) in which the expedition made its tea

Frying pans

Metal matchboxes

Fishhooks

Knives, forks and spoons

Bucket

Tomahawks

Spade

Saddlebags

Halters

Bridles, buckles and bits

Spurs

Butcher's knives

Saddles with stirrup irons and buckles

Packsaddles with buckles

Saddlery tools

Hobbles

Brass and iron bells for horses and or mules

Shoeing gear: horseshoes, hammer, nails and a rasp

Belt buckles

Coins